New York City Ballet Dancers Light Up Colburn's Zipper Hall in *See The Music, Hear The Dance

Saturday, October 26, 2019, at Colburn's Zipper Hall, 7:00 p.m.

WHAT: On Saturday, October 26, 2019, New York City Ballet dancers Lauren Lovette and Craig Hall will join Colburn Conservatory students in bringing to life the aural and visual storytelling of Debussy's timeless Afternoon of a Faun, choreographed by Jerome Robbins. Lovette is a current principal dancer with New York City Ballet and Hall is a former soloist and now current ballet master for the company. This program will give Los Angeles music and dance lovers the rare opportunity to see and hear world class dancers and musicians perform Debussy's elegant masterpiece in this special collaboration on the stage of Colburn's Zipper Hall. The program will last one hour and include the full ballet. A talk-back with the performers will be hosted by Jenifer Ringer, Dean of Colburn School's Trudl Zipper Dance Institute.
