Maxim Eshkenazy, Music Director

“Talented and engaging,” “charismatic and exciting,” “energetic and intelligent,” “conductor who orchestrates with complete confidence and attention” – these are some of the statements used by the press to describe Maxim Eshkenazy. Defined as a rising star in the contemporary generation of young conductors, Maxim strives to bring larger audiences to the music halls and promote the values of orchestral music.

In addition to his commitment to conducting, Maxim continues to play the violin and is a member of the Hermes Piano Trio, which frequently participates in performances and recordings. Maxim has worked with artists such as Midori, Pinchas Zukerman, Shlomo Mintz, Sarah Chang, Joshua Bell and Yo-Yo Ma.

Maestro Eshkenazy divides his time between numerous engagements in the U.S. and Bulgaria. He is among the most popular guest conductors of the Sofia Philharmonic Orchestra, Philharmonic Orchestra of the National Radio, Classic – FM Band, Pleven Symphonic Orchestra and orchestras of the opera houses in Stara Zagora, Varna and Burgas.

Performances at the Colburn School may be recorded. By attending you agree that recordings of your image or voice at these performances may be used for publicity and promotional purposes.
