Suzanne Holley

President and CEO, DTLA Alliance

“With its Colburn Center expansion, the Colburn School is making a monumental investment in three key DTLA pillars – education, culture, and architecture – and helping to take the Grand Avenue cultural district on Bunker Hill to new heights. The aptly named Building Our Future fundraising campaign behind the project is a visionary commitment to Downtown Los Angeles at a critical moment in its ongoing evolution as a world-class hub of innovation and creativity.”

Rachel S. Moore

President and CEO, Music Center

“As an anchor civic and cultural organization, The Music Center looks forward to the new Colburn Center and the possibilities it will offer to students, artists, and the public. This innovative addition of another incredible building by Frank Gehry will further enrich the vibrant arts and cultural landscape along the Grand Avenue cultural corridor in Downtown Los Angeles, enhancing accessibility and fostering creativity for all.”

Nella McOsker

President and CEO, Central City Association

“Downtown Los Angeles is thrilled to welcome the Colburn expansion. To have another Frank Gehry building in the cultural heart of Downtown further cements Los Angeles as the creative capital of the world. This will help foster the next generation of artists and CCA is proud to count the Colburn School as one of its illustrious members increasing the vibrancy of the central city and the region.”

Paul Erb

Executive Vice President, McCarthy

“McCarthy is delighted to collaborate with the Colburn School as the chosen contractor for the upcoming Colburn Center. Our dedicated team of builders is enthusiastic about revitalizing communities through innovative structures, and we are particularly thrilled to be part of the transformative Frank Gehry project. The intersection of culture, architecture, and construction is what makes projects like this memorable and impactful. We take pride in our partnership with Colburn and Gehry Partners, working together to bring their vision to life and contribute to what is bound to become an iconic addition to Los Angeles.”
